How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons' Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficiency.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

A general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc. I hardly ever fail in the client produced. It seems to be in perfect cure for all diseases of the Liver and Bowels.

Slating says he is very much alive.

John Bisbing, of London, O., sat in the public square this morning near the soldiers' monument reading over the list of dead inscribed on the shaft. When he found his own name among the list he halted and tried to refresh his memory with a view to recalling the time and place of his death. This he was unable to do, and arriving at the conclusion he was still living he told a reporter that on July 1, 1861, he enlisted in Company G, Captain John R. Bittenback, One Hundred and Sixth Regiment. At that time he lived in Gwynedd. He served in a number of battles and was wounded at Antietam. He was then sent to the Frederick City hospital, and later to Baltimore, where he was honorably discharged.

Bisbing then enlisted in Philadelphia in a company for state defense. He participated in the Battle of Gettysburg and later returned to Philadelphia, afterward being appointed to a position in the quartermaster's department at Washington. In 1867 he was detailed to similar duties at Springfield, and in November of that year was discharged and went on a visit to London, O. He has since resided in Philadelphia and has three children. This is his first visit to Norristown in twenty-one years. His brother, David Bisbing, lives in this borough at 127 West Main street. Bisbing never knew that he was reported dead, and it was a surprise to him when his name came to be inscribed in the list of fallen—Norristown Times.

A Landlord's Little Message.

Saratoga hotel keepers are modest and they like their guests to be modest too. They do not of course mind the regulation decolete dress, but they do object to real bareness. Saturday night there came floating into the dining room of one of the largest hotels in Saratoga a girl who may be temporarily called Ophelia, clad in a gown which Ophelia would not have worn even after she went mad. Ophelia, you remember, lost her reason and tore her hair, but she did not take off her clothes. This Saratoga Ophelia had on a dress out of which the sleeves were completely cut. It was awfully low and had a dip in the back, so that it showed Ophelia's back-bone as plainly as it showed her back hair. As soon as the proprietor got wind of the panorama which was going around in his dining room he sent one of his maids to her with the message, "Shawls obligatory at dinner."—Cor New York World.

NEVADA TRUE TO PRINCIPLE.

The gallant little State of Nevada was true to principle on election day. The people had clung to party for years, hoping that the promises, which had been held out to them for years by the platform makers would be redeemed. Exasperated by the persistent refusal of the Administration to redeem the pledge made in the National Republican platform on which Harrison was elected, and the action of the House of Representatives on the Bland and Stewart free coinage bills, they resolved to emancipate themselves from the thrall of the old parties, and make a fight for principle. In convention assembled in Reno last June they organized the Silver party of Nevada, declared against Harrison and Cleveland and nominated an electoral ticket and pledged the candidates to vote only for a Presidential candidate who favored free coinage. Senator Stewart, the gallant champion of the silver cause, threw his great influence in favor of the movement. It received further impetus from Francis G. Newlands, who had deservedly acquired a National reputation as an advocate of free coinage. The Silver party endorsed those gentlemen, one for reelection to the United States Senate, the other for Representative in Congress, and the returns show the result.

The State of Nevada has given an unprecedented majority for the Silver ticket. Probably two-thirds of the voters of the State cast their ballot for the Silver candidates. The republican strongholds of Storey, Ormsby and Washoe counties supported the Silver party, and have given its candidates phenomenal majorities. Ormsby, the golden city, in which is situated the State House and the Mint gave Newlands and the Stewart Legislative ticket large majorities and Harrison a plurality, not a majority, of only a dozen votes. The outside counties of the State, where the people feel the depression caused by the demonization of silver more than those of Ormsby, gave a practically unanimous vote for the Silver ticket and the majorities for Weaver, Stewart and Newlands almost equal the whole number of votes polled.

The rebuke administered was severe but deserved. It is hoped it will have the effect intended and that whichever party is in the ascendancy in National affairs will be just to the West as well as to the East, and not cripple the industries of one section of the country to benefit those of another.

STEWART AND NEWLANDS

Nevada elected a Legislature which insures the reelection of Wm. M. Stewart to the United States Senate by a majority of thirty or more on joint ballot, conceding that six of the nine holdover Senators are against him. Francis G. Newlands is elected to the House of Representatives by a majority of four or five thousand. In consequence of the election of Cleveland, and Democratic ascendancy in National affairs, those gentlemen will have much greater influence in both Houses of Congress by reason of the independent position which they occupy, than they would as Republicans. Should the Populists hold the balance of power in the next House of Representatives, as they certainly will in the Senate, they can accomplish much more for the interests of the State, than they could hope to do as Republicans. Both are able, aggressive and energetic. They will not be bound by the decrees of King Caucus. They will not be a party to combinations to advance party interests at the expense of those of their constituents. The one will not, while assuming to be the great champion of the Silver cause, use his influence to elect a President, who is opposed to free coinage at the present ratio, and who would be told by John Sherman would veto a free coinage bill, and the other will not, as the Representative of Nevada, vote for a pronounced goldbug Speaker, and declare in the House that free coinage is of more importance than party success, and two months later in Nevada, place party success before free coinage, and endeavor to get his constituents to support a party that gave only eight votes for the Stewart bill in the House of Representatives on the 13th of last July. No; Stewart and Newlands will do none of those things. They have publicly declared that they will make earnest and honorable endeavor to secure favorable silver legislation regardless of its effect on party, and the vote of last Tuesday furnishes incontrovertible proof that people believe them.

It is predicted by old politicians that the Republicans will never again have a National ticket in the field. The party had no standing in eleven States of the Union and now that the North is almost as solid as the South against it there is no probability of its electing another President. History is repeating itself and it will go as the Whig party did in 1852 when Pierce defeated General Scott.

In Humboldt county there was no dominating political convention this year. Everybody who thought he could be elected to office, and thought it requisite number of voters to sign a petition to have his name placed on the ballot, and cared to submit his case to the people did so.

Matters of Interest From Home and Abroad.

THE SITUATION UNCHANGED.

The Vote in California is Still Undecided.

RETURNS COMING IN SLOWLY.

England Pleased With the Result—Consoling the President—Cleveland Enjoying Perfect Satisfaction.

Election News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The California Legislature consists of 120 members—40 Senators and 80 Assemblymen. Of these the Republicans have 14 holdover Senators and the Democrats 6, leaving 100 members of the Legislature to be voted for. The Republicans must elect 47 to control on joint ballot and the Democrats must elect 55. Incomplete returns from 19 out of 20 Senatorial districts indicate that the Republicans will elect 5 and the Democrats 14 Senators. Incomplete returns from 73 out of 80 Assembly districts indicate that the Republicans have elected 35, the Democrats 38 and the non-Partisans 2 Assemblymen, making 54 members of the Legislature for the Republicans and 56 for the Democrats. Of 8 Legislative districts not yet heard from the Republicans must obtain 7 and the Democrats 5 to control on joint ballot.

6 P. M.—1,200 precincts out of 2,199 in California, including San Francisco's vote, give Harrison 87,559, Cleveland 89,693 and Weaver 15,352.

In the first Congressional district 153 out of 432 precincts give Davis, Rep., 6,339, Geary, Dem., 8,799.

Second district—196 out of 451 precincts give Caminetti, Dem., 12,864, Davis, Rep., 11,026.

Third district—179 precincts out of 238 give Huborn, Rep., 10,377, English, Dem., 1,235.

Fourth district complete returns give Alexander, Rep., 10,185, Maguire, Dem., 11,363.

Fifth district, including San Francisco complete, and 49 out of 85 precincts outside of San Francisco, Lord, Rep., has 8,659, Ryland, Dem., 8,092.

Sixth district—169 out of 275 precincts give Lindley, Rep., 11,001, Cannon, Dem., 9,109.

Seventh—224 out of 443 precincts give Bowers, Rep., 10,685, Wellborn, Dem., 9,069.

According to these returns, California's Representatives will be four Democrats and three Republicans, with the Democrats pushing the Republicans closely in the districts in which the Republicans are slightly in the lead.

Municipal vote being counted very slowly and it will probably not be concluded until tomorrow noon. One hundred and thirty-two precincts, partly counted, give for Mayor O'Donnell, Ind., 7,139; Elert, N. P., 7,310; Easton, Rep., 3,421; Sullivan, Dem., 4,537; for Sheriff, Stutser, Rep., 5,412; Scott, N. P., 5,701; McNamee, Dem., 5,745.

California returns from 1,413 precincts out of 2,199 including 267 precincts in San Francisco give Harrison 94,818; Cleveland, 96,480; Weaver 17,993.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 9.—The Republican State Committee claims McGraw is elected Governor by a plurality of from 1,500 to 3,000. The Democrats do not concede McGraw's election, and claim Carroll. The Democrats have elected a Congressman. The Legislature is probably Republican.

Two hundred and sixteen precincts out of 757 in this State give Harrison 12,289; Cleveland 10,054; Weaver 5,493; for Governor, McGraw, Republican, 8,845; Suively, Democrat, 9,815.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 9.—Corrected returns today indicate the election of J. I. Orleana, Democrat, as delegate by about two thousand majority. The Democrats carried the county ticket by an average of 700 plurality.

CLEVELAND O., Nov. 9.—The Democrats have returns from fifty counties showing a Democratic gain of 19,475. The remaining 35 counties will probably make the result close. The Democrats claim the State by two thousand.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 8.—Democratic Chairman Wall says that Cleveland and Pack are elected by about 13,000. The returns are incomplete but will not make any material difference.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The later returns do not lessen the decisive Democratic victory in Illinois on National and State tickets. Conservative men of all parties now generally agree that the Democratic plurality in Illinois will approximate 10,000.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—From 30 counties show a Republican gain of over 4,000. The Democrats claim the State by 5,000, but this is not conceded by the Republicans.

England Rejoicing at Cleveland's Prospect.

LONDON, November 9.—The returns of the American election were received too late for the morning papers to comment on the result. The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon says both merchants and unemployed working men of England have reason to rejoice at the Democratic victory, as with it there is a possibility of re-opening the American markets to goods and English capitalists will get a chance to procure some return on money invested and workmen will have an opportunity to get a decent price for their labor without the necessity of striking.

The St. James Gazette says some satisfaction is felt in England at Cleveland's going back to the White House. The Blaine-Harrison reign, it adds, is far from agreeable to British interests.

Mrs. Cleveland Happy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Telegrams and letters literally poured into Cleveland's residence this morning. Mrs. Cleveland was the central figure of a group of distinguished people in her drawing room last night, while two telegraph instruments on the floor above ticked off the latest advices from all parts of the country. The ladies remained until after two o'clock this morning when the election of Cleveland was assured. Mrs. Cleveland is in high spirits this morning. She said:

"Of course we were all very much pleased with the news from the election, but Mr. Cleveland's pleasure was not demonstrative. He seemed to be simply in enjoyment of perfect satisfaction."

When Cleveland appeared this morning he attacked his mail with a vigor. Mr. Cleveland denies himself to all representatives of the press and begged to be excused this time from an expression of any opinion on the result.

Offering Consolation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Attorney General Miller, Postmaster General Wamamaker and General Vesey visited the President during the forenoon and offered all the consolation possible at the party's defeat. Each of them declined to suggest any possible explanation of Republican losses. One persistent reporter stuck to Attorney General Miller and asked: "To what do you attribute the unexpected loss here?" The Attorney General hesitated a moment and replied: "When a man has the small pox he doesn't care how he got it."

"FIREPROOF" MAIDEN LANE.

The Precious Metal District Almost Exempt from Big Conflagrations.

Maiden Lane has been singularly free from destructive fires for many years, and there is a superstition among the jewelry and diamond merchants of that street that the lane will never succumb to flames or streams of water, and that the old, old city buildings lining it on both sides are "fireproof."

The records of the fire patrol, which go back to 1874, prove that in the last eighteen years 113 fires have taken place in that neighborhood, all of which were of little account. Those fires which affected jewelry establishments were the most insignificant of the lot, and their stock was never damaged by any fire.

This seems strange, for the reason that in the majority of houses occupied by jewelers numberless small and rickety rooms are used as smelting furnaces and workshops, with plenty of opportunities for creating heat and flames. I talked with a number of merchants located in the precious metal district, between Broadway and William street, and all of them said they had never lost a cent by fire. One of the reasons for this happy state of affairs is their extreme cautiousness. They have watchmen constantly on the premises to guard against thieves, and these men are bound to look out for conflagrations likewise. Whenever there is the slightest cause for danger the thick doors of the safes are locked in a jiffy, and all hands in the building combine to remove that cause.

As one of the "Maiden lanes" expressed himself, there is no inducement for fires either. All the wealth the jeweler's stock represents is kept in safes, the doors of which are barred in an instant. Even if there was a fire among that respectable class of merchants he would not dare set fire to his building in order to claim insurance on his stock, for such a thing would give him away in an instant. If a really destructive fire should occur in one of the jewelry establishments in the lane the safes would tumble down into the cellar, and the precious stock would be recovered as soon as they had cooled off.

And even if the safes were injured or lost, the goods they contained would not be lost. We all remember the great fire in Bond street which destroyed a number of wholesale jewelry establishments. When the proprietors of these precious safes looked for them they were nowhere, only twisted and distorted fragments being found. But when they dug up the soil under the destroyed building, they turned up large clumps of precious ore that had once been watch chains, breastpins or wedding rings. The police were notified and formed a line all around the seat of the fire. Then a mining camp was established. A long gutter was run around two sides of the spot made vacant by the fire, a stream of water was fed through the gutters, the earth was carefully washed and a fortune recovered, the proceeds of which were divided among the former occupants of the building according to the extent of their business.

Maiden Lane is not the only down town street that of late years has been free from conflagrations, though no other has such a record to show as the lane.

Pearl, Williams, Beekman and Fulton streets were once notorious for big fires. That was in the times when the big paper warehouses and similar establishments made their headquarters there. The part of Maiden Lane adjacent to the river still gives the fire department work from time to time. Oil and paint stores are mostly responsible for conflagrations in that vicinity.—New York Herald.

Ministers Abreast of the Times.

One Boston clergyman at least is up to date. Last Sunday he preached on Whittier in the morning and on the Sullivan-Corbett fight in the evening. It will now be in order for him to preach a sermon on the wickedness of the papers in reporting the fight. Another clergyman announced a Sunday evening talk on the subject, "Four Tools of the Devil." Another of our ministers recently remarked to his congregation: "I don't know what I shall do for the rest of my life. I shall either speak of prayer as touching the electric light which rings in heaven or I shall preach on the subject of the moon."

A fair recitation of Norwood Park was recently presented with an opera glass, and conceiving when the moon was at the full she took a peep at it through the glass "just for fun." She looked a moment, rubbed her eyes and looked again.

"Why, how curious!" she exclaimed. "There are two lovely faces in the moon tonight."

"Nonsense," said her companion. But she insisted she saw them, and after describing their location handed the glass to her friend. She saw them at once and was enthusiastic over their beauty. The following night a dozen glasses were brought to bear by neighbors, who had been told of the discovery, and the whole village was soon singing the praises of the celestial beauties.

The news was brought into the city by one of the suburbanites, and an entire neighborhood on the North Side sat up late to see the beauties. Any one with an ordinary opera glass may see the faces. One is partially hidden by the other, but both are very sweet.

"The professor," who is supposed to be on speaking terms with all the celestial celebrities, was asked what he thought about the discovery. He said he believed that the discovery was made a good many years ago, but that it attracted no attention in the scientific world. But then the professor has no sentiment in his soul and doesn't like women.—Chicago Tribune.

A Fine Variety of Horse Chestnut.

The scarlet flowered horse chestnut (Aesculus rubicunda) has flowered unusually well this season, and it is unquestionably one of the handsomest of our rather limited number of flowering trees. Being of small growth, rarely exceeding twenty-six feet in height, it is peculiarly suitable for planting where ground space is rather limited and where one has to be careful in choosing trees of small and compact growth.

The chestnut has a most telling effect when placed in front of taller growing trees, and for this reason it has been largely employed for ornamenting the margins of woods and plantations, but particularly such as are visible from park roads and drives. The beautiful scarlet flowers, produced in great abundance at the branch tips, are very conspicuous against the dark green leaves.—London Garden.

A Big Bass.

A correspondent writing from Shelbyville, Ind., tells of the capture of a small mouthed black bass weighing 5 pounds and 14 ounces, and measuring 23 1/2 inches in length. The fish was killed in Flat-rock river about ten miles from Shelbyville, the bait used being a crawfish. Now this is rather a "bushy" old bass—sort of a basso profundo, as it were—and his weight has set me to wondering just how heavy a small mouthed black bass can weigh and its captor not fall dead trying to tell about it. Furthermore, it was stated that the fish in question was in poor condition, and would have weighed if fat more than six pounds.—Outing.

PEOPLE FIND

That it is not wise to experiment with cheap compounds purporting to be blood-purifiers, but which have no real medicinal value. To make use of any other than the old standard AYER'S Sarsaparilla—the Superior Blood-purifier—is simply to invite loss of time, money, and health. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other."

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." Mrs. ELIA A. GORF, 61 Terrace Street, Boston.
